

At Heights Communication Rationalisation

Project Outline

As part of a wider project to rationalise and improve the communication infrastructure on the UK Distribution Gas network, Aughton performed the safe removal and disposal of existing / redundant communication equipment across various sites.

The communication equipment consisted of Yagi's and Satellite dishes that where located at height on communication masts / towers and poles or kiosk buildings across live Gas Distribution sites.

